

SAVE THE DATE!

November 11-14, 2010

Los Angeles, California

Hollywood/Universal City Hilton

8th International Conference on Biotherapy

This conference is for physicians, nurses, biologists and other scientists and students who work in or are interested in biotherapy

Objectives:

- Become aware of the different varieties of biotherapy
- Understand medical uses of biotherapy modalities
- Learn how to use various biotherapy modalities
- Understand current science on biotherapy modalities

Come see and learn about therapies with maggots, leeches, bee venom, phages, fish and horses.

Conference Co-Chairs:

Ron Sherman, MD

Director, BTER Foundation

Kosta Y. Momcuogla, PhD

President, International Biotherapy Society

Aletha Tippett, MD

President, Hope of Healing Foundation

International Distinguished Faculty

Exhibitors with reception.

Sponsored by: The University of Cincinnati

Educational Partners: The BTER Foundation, Hope of Healing Foundation

This activity has been approved for AMA PRA Category 1 credit. If you perform or are interested in biotherapy, using animals in medicine, this conference is for you. Come to learn, share and have fun. A block of hotel rooms has been reserved at our group rate.

Registration coming soon. See www.BTERfoundation.org/icb2010.htm for information.

