Director's Letter

Greetings ,

The next BioTherapy Live! broadcast is coming up on April 20 at 11:00 am PDT (2:00 pm Eastern Time). The program will focus on maggot therapy questions, since many more questions came in before and during last month's program than could be addressed at that time.

If you have maggot therapy questions, send them in, or text us during the live sessions. Questions presented live during the broadcast will always receive attention first.

Four new speakers have been added to the roster, covering topics such as leech therapy, helminthic therapy, bee venom therapy, and bacteriophage. Dates and times for those sessions are still being arranged.

If you have experience in biotherapy or biotherapy research, please join our panel of experts. Contact us to find out how to share your insights with our subscribers and attendees.

Advancing healthcare through education and research in biotherapy,

Hirudotherapy (Leech Therapy) Lecture, On-Line

Interested in Hirudotherapy (leech therapy)?
Did you miss the BTER Foundation's lecture for the Wound Care Education Institute several weeks ago? Well, no use in "crying over spilled mild," since WCEI is making the webinar recording available on-line!

Biotherapy Live! is Back

The next broadcast of Biotherapy Live! will be on April 20 at 11:00 am PDT. Future webinars are tentatively scheduled to air live on the third Tuesday of each month. They will be posted on our Facebook page and YouTube channel shortly thereafter.

- April 20, 2021: BioTherapy Live
- May 18, 2021: BioTherapy Live
- June 15, 2021: BioTherapy Live
- July 20, 2021: BioTherapy Live

Times (and even dates) may vary, depending on the availability of our guest lecturers and viewers. If a "BeTER" time for the live sessions works for you - let us know!

Beginning in 2007, BTER Members set up "classroom booths" at healthcare exhibits across the country in order to reach clinicians who otherwise might not attend a biotherapy lecture.
